Red Cross Payments Cut Down Possibilities

PLEAD MORE SUPPORT

Workers Say It's Needed to Wind Up Saturday

Red Cross activities continue at full tide since the campaign proper began last Wednesday morning, a meeting of the campaign committee being held last night. Results of check-up had not been announced at 2 o'clock today.

Chairman, Gene Gifford, George Carter, A. C. Reichle, A. L. Burge and Ed Lohmann, who constitute the campaign supervising committee, reported the business district of the city responding with larger donations than last year.

HIT $10,000 MARK
Pledges are being made at all refineries but collections are not expected in large numbers until next week when the paydays arrive. That the refineries will go 100 per cent or near it was the report from committees working that section.

The campaign pledges are known to have hit the $10,000 mark by noon as a checkup last night unofficially indicated half the $15,000 budget goal had already been reached. The refineries are expected with their next week payments to put the drive over.

Teams are in the fields and a great part of the city territory has been covered. Many asked committees to return and this is being done in many instances.

P. E. Gifford, chairman of the drive forces, today asked those who haven't subscribed to make an effort to do so by Saturday night and not to limit subscriptions to $1.

Though this will enroll a member, the dollar pledge is being taken advantage of by many who could afford to give more and who should, Gifford said.

"Give more than a dollar," was the new slogan this morning on lips of campaign committees.

President W. A. Starnes of the local chapter said all subscriptions should be made now if possible and payments made until next week or until Nov. 17, as the last moment.

The reason the pledges are desired now is to check the amount given and try if possible to be able to close the solidifying Saturday night, the president said.

All traffic laws will be enforced, but particularly those against speeders and the driving of cars with insufficient lights, Parsley said.

THE AD-VISER

BRITISH VET IS FOUND A HOME

Red Cross Secures Hospital Aid

Landing in Port Arthur broken in health from the effects of gas gotten in France where he fought with the British army, alone and penniless, unable to do the slightest kind of work to earn his living, a young Canadian veteran found in Port Arthur Red Cross workers who help make the Red Cross the "greatest mother in the world."

Against the handicap of a weakened constitution and despite physical suffering that increased until it became almost unbearable, the Canadian veteran struggled to "carry on" with true British tenacity. He started following the sea at the close of the war, and it was while his ship was in Port Arthur one trip that his weakened constitution snapped.

Red Cross workers took up his case with the Canadian government's pension and hospital departments, found the ex-service man was entitled to both a pension and treatment, and made arrangements for him to take passage from Port Arthur to New York on a ship. While awaiting for arrangements to be completed for him to go to Canada, the Port Arthur Red Cross chapter also cared for the disabled man, and assisted him to get in touch with Red Cross workers in New York who helped him on to Ottawa, Canada.

Letters recently received from the Canadian veteran by Red Cross workers in Port Arthur tell of his deep appreciation for the assistance given him by Red Cross workers here, and how he is coming around to health and strength again in a Canadian war veterans' hospital.

Port Arthur Pupils Active In Junior Red Cross Work

Contribute $25 to National Children's Fund, Supply Needy With Food and Vets With Sweets

Without waiting for their little insignia buttons or other enrolling supplies, every boy and girl enrolled in Lamar school in Port Arthur Heights, "signed up" for membership in the Port Arthur Junior Red Cross chapter.

"The children in Lamar school are sold heart and soul on the Junior Red Cross idea," Miss Susie Dunn, principal of the school, told Red Cross workers. "They were so anxious to get in line for the program outlined for the Junior Red Cross this year that they would not wait for their cards and buttons to be brought out to the school."

Money derived from the dues in the Junior Red Cross, ranging from one penny up to a dollar or more, according to the amount the children can give, is used for national children's relief measures sponsored by the Red Cross, and this year part of it will be turned into a fund to provide needy children in schools in this city with eye glasses, and to defray the expenses of remedying other physical defects, according to Red Cross workers.

Food Is Provided.

Co-operation with the Parent-Teachers association, under the direction of Mrs. Bertha Finley, Red Cross public health nurse with the Port Arthur chapter, in charge of health work in the rural schools, the Junior Red Cross members at Sabine are providing fresh milk and a hot food to some of the undernourished children attending the Sabine Pass consolidated school. Red Cross workers here said, "At Christmas time members of the Junior Red Cross in Port Arthur, Nederland, Port Neches and Sabine make up baskets of food for entire families. They also pack candies, nuts and fruits for shipment to disabled United States veterans in government hospitals."

Compliments of the Red Cross Southwestern division officials were given the portfolios prepared by Port Arthur Junior Red Cross members in Franklin school and the High school last year and exchanged with students in the public schools of the Hawaiian Islands and the Philippine Islands. Advantages of Port Arthur as a place to live, with views and essays setting forth the industries, history, customs, for of government and various other things were included in the portfolios prepared in the schools here, and similar points of interest were brought out in the portfolios received in return from Hawaii and the Philippines.

Fund Given $25.

Thus far during the present school term, the Port Arthur Junior Red Cross members have contributed $25 to the national children's fund. Throughout all the activities of the Junior Red Cross the idea set forth in the motto on the membership buttons, "I Serve," is stressed by the workers in charge of this department of the Port Arthur Red Cross chapter. Not only the public schools of the city and neighboring communities are conducting an enrollment campaign during the regular Red Cross roll call now on, but private parochial and denominational schools also. With the exception of the High school, Junior Red Cross representatives have been appointed in all the schools to direct the program of activities.

The representatives are: Mrs. R. L. Mossman, chairman. Port Arthur High school, unappointed. Franklin school, Miss Katherine Terry. DeQueen school, Miss Velma Sandlin (secretary). Lamar school, Miss Dorothy Brewster (treasurer). Webster school, Miss Ruth Butter. Trinity Lutheran school, Prof. Kampath. Lutheran Mission school, Prof. Ifred. Griffing school, Miss Wayne Young. Kindergarten (private), Mrs. H. K. Deussen. ASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Just far allegiance to a statue of Prince of Wales should go is a question that is agitating part of the fish public, according to a report filed by the department of commerce from L. A. Thorpe of the office of the commercial attaché at London.

In the Canadian pavilion quite a section of the community is interested in the fate of the model in the Prince of Wales, standing by his home on his Canadian ship. A uniform temperature and variations have been employed to maintain the statue's character of striking production.

An English paper pointed out that the fate of the model must necessarily be to melt unless some American deer buys it.

ASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—To dozens of lowering the appalling toll of 22,600 persons killed in traffic accidents last year, Secretary of Commerce Herbert W. Hoover has named a conference of various interested groups to meet here December 15, 16, 17.

The importance of the question, he said, "needs no emphasis beyond the bald statement of the facts set out by the statistical committee of eminent authorities, after canvassing local, municipal and national information, insurance payments, etc., arrived at conclusion that in 1923 not less than 22,600 persons were killed, 678,000 injured and $600,000,000 of property damage incurred in traffic accidents."

Dr. Frank Crane's Editorials

MONEY

Many years ago, Jay Gould began life as a country boy milking cows for fifty cents a day. He died, leaving an enormous fortune. The heirs are now quarreling over it.

In the family litigation over the millions that Jay Gould left, being conducted by thirty-five high-priced lawyers, the attempt at blackmail of more than thirty years ago was up again recently.

Sometime ago two women made an effort to blackmail Mr. Gould, one of them claiming that he had been married to him. They were unsuccessful.

A man who makes a million dollars and more is apt to be the target for all kinds of sharpers. Every man's hand is against him.

It is easier, and more fun, to make a million dollars than it is to take care of it.

In the making of it there is excitement and adventure. In the taking care of it there is nothing but caution.

We are all anxious to accumulate fortune, in order that we may leave our children better off than we were ourselves. We imagine that the road will be smooth for them by having plenty of money.

We forget that it is the predestined lot of man, in this world, to find his happiness through struggle and to win the prize of life by his own exertions.

Most of the efforts of those who have accumulated much money to enable their children to lead a better kind of life have been unsuccessful. It is the want of money, and the need of it that gives most of us activity and this activity results in the development of our character.

The possession of a great deal of money renders activity unnecessary, and our character degenerates.

It is a common saying that it is only two or three generations from shirt sleeves to shirt sleeves. (Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

In New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The spirit of all New York, past and present, is epitomized in an ancient graveyard that lies just off the Bowery near Chatham Square.

It is in the shadow of the world's tallest buildings. It is a stone's throw from Chinatown and from the haunts of desperate criminals. The elevated trains roar by. Tenements box it in. And above the graves washings hang, dripping clothes almost sweeping the tops of tombstones.

This was the first Jewish graveyard in the United States. It was consecrated in 1656. Some of the tombstones have been standing almost three centuries.

Once it was the center of the Spanish and Portuguese Jewish colony, the first Jews to land in America. It was already a landmark during the Revolutionary War and its site was used as a fortress at that time.

Times and men have marched on since then, but sentiment and tradition have remained immutable. Life is so crowded in that part of New York that it can hardly persist, but reverence for the dead protects the sanctuary of mouldering bones.

And there you have the symbolism of New York.

This vast fabric of humanity is shot through with tragedy, drabness, selfishness, rapidity and sorrow. But in there are soft threads of sentiment.

And such a thread is this ancient Jewish graveyard, with its paradox of flapping clothes-lines and its revered tombstones.

Charlie Mathieu, dapper, nervous, popular newspaper editor, has lived in New York most of his life. He knows New York like your nose knows a rose, but he seldom visits Greenwich Village.

Last week several ladies from Cincinnati were guests at his home. They wanted to see New York like your nose knows a rose, but he seldom visits Greenwich Village.

Arriving at Washington Square he asked a policeman where to go, what place would be a good one in which to show the out-of-towners a bit of life.

"You'd better go home," the cop answered. "They rob you in these places. You get a big check and you see nothing but four-flushers."

Still determined to explore the haunts of long-haired men and short-haired women, Mathieu approached five other cops.

And they all told him the same thing.

REFINERIES AND C. OF C. WORKING TO SOLVE FRESH WATER PROBLEM

Port Arthur's fresh water problem comes more pressingly to the front as we near the seventh month of the most unprecedented drought in the history of this section.

The last rain of measurable quantity fell here June 20. Since that time days have stretched into weeks, weeks into months, and now more than half the span of a fleeting year has passed without relief.

While the rural districts are more distressingly feeling the effect of the lack of rain than Port Arthur, because of its agricultural live stock and dairy needs, the situation is about to reach a crisis here.

Both refineries are nearing the time when their reservoirs will be exhausted. Cisterns are empty. The city's wells, while not in any danger of going dry at the present time, might, well within the limits of reason, at no distant date find themselves in just that predicament. And since this is more than a conceivable possibility if the drought continues several months longer, it would seem that the public interest demands a remedy for the situation.

It is welcome news that both refineries and the Chamber of Commerce are quietly conducting an investigation into the potentialities of a future water supply for Port Arthur. Efforts under way contemplate adequate provision for fresh water of domestic and industrial character, itself a crying need even before the days of the drought, since the salt water content, besides the handicap of price a large consuming industry must pay for it, renders it totally unfit for consideration.

Port Arthur normally has an adequate supply of water. This in itself is no problem. Our real problem lies in securing an immense amount of fresh water suited to a diversification of needs, attractive to concerns seeking industrial location, and at a price they can well afford to pay.

Tulsa, Okla., wrestled with its fresh water problem for years. Its source of supply was from little more than a mud-creek, burdened with silt, heavily charged with salt, and almost undrinkable. Yet that portion of Tulsa was unable to afford spring water had to drink it or do without. In the past ten years it is estimated this has cost Tulsa 30,000 inhabitants and scores of industries.

In Port Arthur we are paying a heavy toll. It is impossible to attract a multitude of industries here if these industries must solve their own water problem, when by going elsewhere they are relieved of that burden. Location of any industry in Port Arthur is not an affair of sentiment, but is governed by strict, hard-headed business considerations. And unless Port Arthur secures fresh water in adequate supply, and can manage in securing it at the same time to sell it for industrial purposes at an attractive price 1930 will find us not one step advanced, not one whit larger in point of population than we are at the present time.

There are several almost insurmountable problems for which a solution is being sought by refinery officials and the Chamber of Commerce fresh water committee. The best minds of the city are being bent to overcoming them, and they will in the end be overcome. In the nature of things several proposals are being considered, some feasible, others claimed not. An exhaustive investigation, when it is beset by difficulties such as must be overcome by a solution of the problem here, will take weeks and months. But in the end it is indicated that Port Arthur then will have something tangible, not merely theoretical, on which to work.

In the meantime the public in general, itself vitally concerned down to the youngest child, should prepare itself to unequalled encouragement of what will be recommended when that time comes by studying the situation from an economic standpoint now.

In doing this it should be remembered: That we are in an era of swift accomplishment and strenuous competition. If Port Arthur is to grow, and we as individuals grow with it in business progress and prosperity, we must make it attractive to newcomers and to investors and to industrialists.

To do this we must have fresh water for everybody concerned. We have water for ships—let's get it for our industrialists and for the faucets of our kitchens.

Mr. La Follette carried Wisconsin. If there is another state in sight for him the wire hasn't carried the news to Texas.

S S S S S S S

There are two types of monopolies, vertical and horizontal.

Monopolies, vertical and horizontal, are created to save the waste of fierce competition.

As an example of horizontal monopoly take the John Doe grocery store in Xville, which sell 94 per cent of all groceries sold in the city. They monopolize sales, but have nothing to do with production.

John Doe can create a vertical monopoly in this way: he can start buying farms to produce the materials he sells. He will also have to buy independent transportation. Furthermore, he must build factories to prepare "raw produce," and a finance and realty corporation will be necessary. With these things in his possession John Doe will have a vertical monopoly.

The horizontal monopoly concentrates all the activities of one process and the vertical concentrates all the processes of one activity.

The Affair at Flower Acres

© 1924 by NEA Service Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Douglas Raynor is found shot through the heart in the early evening on the floor of the sun room of Flower Acres, his Long Island home. Standing over the dead man, pistol in hand, is Malcolm Finley, former sweetheart of Raynor's wife, Nancy. Eva Turner, Raynor's nurse, stands by the light switch. In a moment Nancy appears, white faced and terrified. Orville Kent, Nancy's brother, comes in from the south side of the room. And then Ezra Goddard, friend of Finley; Miss Mattie, Raynor's sister, and others, enter upon the scene. Detective Dobbins is official investigator. An autopsy reveals that Raynor also was being systematically poisoned with arsenic. Lionel Raynor, son of Douglas Raynor by first marriage, comes to claim his father's estate. Nurse Turner, arrested by Dobbins in New York, finally confesses to poisoning Douglas Raynor out of revenge. "The case was my revenge—to see him cringe and crawl," she says.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"This is a strange confession, Miss Turner," Dobbins said.

"But a true one," she returned. "And remember, I did not kill him. His wife did that—and I, for one, do not blame her."

She looked compassionately at Nancy, but in a cool, detached way.

The others present on this occasion were Finley, Goddard and Orville Kent.

Ezra Goddard was deeply interested. Malcolm Finley's countenance was impassive. Of them all, Orville Kent seemed the most disturbed. As always, when he was nervously excited, he sat twisting the corners of his handkerchief into spirals.

There was deep affection between this brother and sister, and Nan, the older, had always watched over her brother with devoted care.

Never a strong boy, Kent had grown to manhood only by reason of his own determined efforts to improve his health. Exercise, diet, medical treatment, all had been called on to make a strong, hearty constitution out of a frail one—and though the success was only partial, yet Kent, the man, was a decided improvement on Kent, the sickly child, and delicate boy.

It was self-evident that it was the disclosures of Eva Turner that so upset Orville. He listened with flushed face and unnaturally bright eyes; he leaned forward in his chair to drink in her words, and then she admitted her decision to use poison on her unsuspecting victim. Kent fell back as if under a crushing blow.

Dobbins, too, was watching. Could it be, he thought, that Kent was in love with Miss Turner? She was—must be, at least ten years or so older than he, though, as Dobbins knew, that might not prove an insuperable barrier to such a condition of things.

Again, Miss Turner, though a fine-looking wholesome woman, was in no way a charmer or even especially attractive in her appearance.

But unless for some such reason, Dobbins couldn't divine why Karl was so desperately unnerved, even alarmed, the detective thought.

But as Eva Turner continued to talk, it began to be more clear that while she was confessing her own part in the affair she was also making ready for a graver accusation against some one else.

She had said that Nancy Raynor had shot her husband, but now he came back to it, and made the definite statement that she was sure of it.

"Did you see Mrs. Raynor with the pistol in her hand?" Dobbins asked.

"This is a grave statement you're making, Miss Turner."

"No; I didn't see that—for the simple reason that I didn't flash the light on her quickly enough for that."

"Tell me exactly what you saw when the lights did go on."

"I saw Mr. Finley picking up the pistol, and Mrs. Raynor fleeing out at the west door."

"Your testimony is of the greatest importance, Miss Turner, so I will ask you to be very careful what you say. You're sure Mrs. Raynor was fleeing—I take that word to mean running away from possible discovery?"

"That is exactly what she was doing," Eva Turner nodded her head with emphasis.

"Did Mr. Finley look frightened?"

"He looked more disturbed—bewildered, puzzled. I should say he picked up the pistol with the intention of helping to shield Mrs. Raynor, either by taking the crime on his own shoulders—or, at least—by removing her fingerprints from the weapon. He was already rubbing it with his handkerchief when I looked at him."

"You have reconstructed this affair very definitely, Miss Turner. You must have thought over it a great deal."

"I have. I have lived that scene over and over in my mind."

"With the idea of making up this popcock yarn?" Orville Kent burst out.

"Where were you looking?"

"West—at the afterglow of the sunset. It was growing dark, but there were a few silvery clouds fading to gray. And even if I had come up the hill looking toward the house I could not have seen any one who had come out of that south door, if he had been careful to skulk along in the shadows of the shrubbery, which doubtless he would have done."

And then Dobbins understood the distress Orville had shown. He had realized that, although Eva Turner admitted the poisoning, he meant to bring the shooting back to Nan, and Kent was apprehensive for his sister.

He was, therefore, Dobbins decided, making ready now to put up a good fight, and he started in by trying to turn the tables and lay the crime at Eva Turner's door.

But, no Kent did not go so far as that. He held up his hand, still shaking nervously and said:

"I protest this woman's testimony. I insist that it is not worthy of credence. She has admitted that she tried to poison Douglas Raynor, is she to be allowed her, then, to accuse some one else of bringing about his death? Is she not disqualified as a witness? Would she not lay the crime on anybody rather than that suspicion should rest on her. She says she saw Mrs. Raynor running out of the door. Suppose she was, Suppose Mrs. Raynor, hearing the shot, ran to the poison jar and took it and happened. She entered in the semi-darkness, and then, when Miss Turner put on the lights, she saw the tragedy—and, of course, she ran from the room. The most natural thing to do, I make no accusation myself, I offer no suggestion, but I hold, Mr. Dobbins, that such a deeply interested party as Miss Turner cannot be depended on for an unbiased account of what occurred."

"You are right," Ezra Goddard said. "I agree, Mr. Dobbins, that such a deeply interested party as Miss Turner cannot be depended on for an unbiased account of what occurred."

Kent looked relieved at this support of his own opinions, and settled back in his chair, still twisting his handkerchief, and now and then glancing sympathetically at Nan.

A sort time previously, Lionel Raynor had drifted into the room. He silently took a seat, and listened with attention.

His Smile Is Catching

BEBE DANIELS COMING.

An unforgettable story plus flash-act and admirable direction combine to make "Sinners in Heaven" one of the highlights among the season's current films. This Paramount picture will be at the Strand theater Saturday.

The story, an adaptation by James Creelman of the prize-winning novel of the same name by Clive Arden, deals with Barbara Stockler (played by Bebe Daniels) and Alan Croft, (portrayed by Richard Dix). These two, one a straight-laced little English girl, the other, a dashing British aviator, are the sole survivors of an ill-fated hydroplane expedition. Cast away on a desert island, they not only have to fight for life against nature and native savages but against their own conflicting emotions. It is a strange, tense, dramatic struggle that takes place there in that tropical island, a million miles from civilization, the heart-stirring conflict between love and convention. Love wins, and the resulting complications provide some startling surprises.

AT THE PEOPLES.

The final showings of the Cecil B. DeMille Paramount production, "Feet of Clay," at the Peoples theater will take place there tomorrow. Rod La Rocque, Vera Reynolds, Victor Varconi, Ricardo Cortez, Julia Payne, Theodore Kosloff and Robert Edison are featured in the cast. The story was adapted to the screen by Beulah Marie Dix and Bertram Millhauser from Margaretta Tuttle's magazine serial.

"Feet of Clay" is a story of New York and California, and, as one who was privileged with a preview of the production so aptly exclaimed, "As modern as rolled stockings and of a smartness akin to Fifth Avenue on an Easter Sunday morning." And that's that!

AT THE CAMEO.

Necessity is the mother of invention and as a result of necessity the old familiar phrase, "three sheets to the wind," has blossomed into "She waddled down the bay with four sheets to the wind."

All of this came about through Vitagraph's filming of Rafael Sabatini's famous love story, "Captain Blood," now at Cameo theater.

The story concerns the good ship Arabella, mastered by J. Warren Kerrigan, as Captain Blood. As the vessel moved out into the stream on one of its roving expeditions and proceeded down the bay with full equipment of players, crew, cameramen and Director David Smith, it was observed that no flag was flying from the stern. There was a rush to cover the oversight, but no flag could be found in the lockers. Director Smith has never been heated by circumstances, like Napoleon he makes opportunity and on this occasion...

IT'S SO DRY ALL RECORDS CRACK

Drouth Worst In Thirty Years, Claim

Nobody knows how dry we are! That is, unless they have taken the trouble to go over the figures in the office of Weather Observer Ernest Carson.

If there had been, since January, 19.40 inches more of rain, this would have been a normal year.

As it is, there is a deficiency of nearly 20 inches. This has created the greatest drouth period on the records of the local weather bureau which date back to 1918. Old timers who have been in the Sabine district more than 30 years say Jupiter Pluvius has played the prodigal son longer this stretch than within their memories.

Dryer and Drier

The year started out normally. There was for January 6.59 inches rain, while the average here for the first month of the year was about that. February had 6.34 inches for the average. Since February it has been getting dryer and more dry and each month has seen the actual rainfall going further below the average.

July average rainfall in Port Arthur is 6.78. There was for that month not an inch of rain; 35 to be exact. August had .72 inch of rain this year, as against an average of 6.97.

September came near being blank with but .047 inches while the average for the month is 8.83.

Not Even a Drop

October broke all records when not a drop of rain precipitation was recorded. The general average for the month is normally 3.34.

Since June, or for the last four months, there has fallen 1.54 inches of rain. In that period, if normal rainfall had arrived, there should have been recorded 20.62 inches.

No relief is in sight, according to Carson, who says nobody is ever able to use persuasion of any kind on the elements.

ONCE RICH STAR NOW ON 'EXTRA'

Frankie Bailey Starting Life Over

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 13.—Frankie Bailey! Remember her?

Nine years straight she was a favorite on Broadway. And 17 years old, all told, she played along New York's Rialto.

Rich men paid fabulous prices—as theater prices went those days—to see and hear her. Artists called her the "Venus of America." Lillian Russell was her only rival for the title of the country's most beautiful woman.

Over in Europe, kings and queens, dukes and duchesses, lords and ladies, had boxes at her shows.

But that was two decades ago.

Then Frankie's name disappeared from the program, the newspaper's theater sections and the big signs in front of Broadway playhouses.

Frankie Has Courage

But now Frankie has come back to the "profession." No longer, though, is she one of its leaders. She is starting out all over—at the very bottom.

Today she is one of the hundreds of "extras" competing for minor parts in movie pictures.

Morning after morning she leaves her little furnished room on her rounds of the studios. Some days there may be a job for her, at $7.50 a day, but more often there is not. Frankie, though, isn't discouraged. "The early stages of breaking into pictures are tough for anyone," she says.

"There is no royal short cut in the business. So I am doing just what the rest are doing—buckling the line. I have no complaint to make—but when I get my chance, well, I just will make good, that's all. And I am going to stay with the picture game until I have had that chance. If it doesn't come I shall find something else to do. But I am confident it will some day."

Let Fortune Slip

With Miss Bailey it is the same old story of genius and money-management, or rather mismanagement.

Her income was enhanced by money left her and by investments.

"But I never was a business woman," she explains. "And it all seemed to melt away. Those who understood business matters better than I managed to get it all."

Altogether some three-quarters of a million passed through her hands. Three years ago she came to Hollywood, not particularly picture-bound but not averse to entering movies should occasion offer. It did not, so she took employment in the beauty and theatrical make-up section of a drug store. Later she sold gowns.

But now she is enjoying a stretch of employment in the making of "Ex-cuse Me," that Rupert Hughes is directing.

And maybe this eventually will mean the chance for which she longs. She hopes so, anyway.

About 60 per cent of the population of western Canada resides on farms.

BEAUMONT FAIR WELL ATTENDED

7,500 Attend Opening Day Thursday

Special to The News. BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 14.—More than 7,500 people passed through the gates of the South Texas State Fair which opened here yesterday and which will continue on through November 22, the closing day. All shows, concessions, exhibits and other attractions were finished on schedule time, and everything was in readiness for the opening yesterday. Fair directors have used the experience gained last year to good advantage. There has been more attention paid to detail and there is no department of the fair that is not a decided improvement of that of the 1923 exhibition.

Fair officials are delighted with the weather which they declare is ideal for a fair. A light, drizzling rain fell on the opening day last year, and the grounds were wet and soggy.

Permanent buildings have also been of a decided help to the officials. They were considerably handicapped last year since there were more exhibits than there were buildings to house them. Several structures have been erected since the last fair and all exhibits are well housed.

Textile Awards Made. Awards in the textile department of the South Texas Fair were made here yesterday afternoon. Women of Orange carried away many prizes for their handiwork. Mrs. John R. Adams of Port Arthur was awarded a prize on her point lace. This was the only award for any work from Port Arthur.

DANCE HALL ROW Aired in Court

Special to The News. BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 14.—Scores of interested Port Neches men and women were in the 60th district court this morning when a hearing was to have been held with reference to the closing of a dance hall operated by John Fuslier.

A temporary injunction closing the hall was granted by Judge J. D. Campbell when property owners in the vicinity of the hall asked that it be closed on the grounds that it was a public nuisance, and that the value of their property was lowered on account of its proximity.

The owners of the hall declare that the dances were quiet, well ordered affairs, that there was no unnecessary order and will ask that the injunction be modified in order that it be permitted to run pending hearing of the case.

Judge J. D. Campbell stated the injunction would be heard as soon as he could find time for it, and no definite date for hearing was set today.

BENOUT MAKES $1,000 BOND

Special to The News. BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 14.—Philip Benout, Port Arthur, charged with assault, was released from the county jail after he had made bond for $1,000 here Thursday afternoon.

Sheriff Garner had refused to accept a bond for Benout where his bondsmen could not show they owned real estate in the county. Hearing was held before Judge J. D. Campbell, the attorney for Benout contending that bondsmen were possessed of personal property and it was not necessary for them to own real estate.

Judge Campbell directed that a bond on personal property should be accepted by the sheriff, but Garner was of the opinion that bondsmen should own property in Jefferson county.

Attorney Harrison, however, arranged for property owners to sign the bond for Benout in addition to those already signed and Benout was released yesterday.

WEADON'S THIRD WELL IS COMPLETED

BEAUMONT, Texas, November 14. The third well for cattle at the McFaddin place below Dutch Joe's was completed on Wednesday. W. P. H. McFaddin, on whose land the wells were drilled, stated this morning that the cattle would now be well supplied with water.

SCHOOL GIRL MAY DIE OF INFECTION

Special to The News. BEAUMONT, Texas, November 14.—Myrwin Darden, 16-year-old South Park school girl, is near death at Hotel Dieu here with blood poisoning. The girl had a small eruption on her face, which became infected. She was taken to the hospital promptly, where an operation was performed by Dr. H. A. Barr. Attending physicians declared this morning that there was very little hope for her recovery.

Teacher Loses Fight Against Cancellation

AUSTIN, Nov. 14.—Cancellation by the state superintendent of public instruction of a teacher's certificate issued to C. A. Massey, teacher in Hopkins county public schools was sustained by the state board of education today. Allegation was made that the certificate was irregularly obtained and when cancelled Massey appealed to the state board on the ground that the state superintendent was without authority to cancel. Woman Wins $5500 Damages By Verdict

Special to The News. BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 14.—Judgment for $5,500 was awarded Eliza Hildebrandt by a jury in 60th court Thursday afternoon following hearing of a personal damage suit against the Rosenthal Dry Goods company. Damages of $20,000 were asked for by the plaintiff who alleged she had been permanently injured as the result of an accident occurring in 1920 on Highland avenue here. The contention was made that a truck driven by an employee of the Rosenthal Dry Goods company here collided with her buggy and that she was seriously injured. Following the decision yesterday she declared the amount awarded her would not pay her hospital bills. An appeal on the case was taken by the defendant.

(Continued from Page 1.) help came from surrounding towns. The scene resembled a town in the war zone of France, with the constant explosions, punctuated now and then by dynamite blasts as buildings were razed in the path of the flames.

A score of firemen were overcome and ten injured and rushed to hospitals. Priests were on hand, moving about inside the fire lines.

Chief Rescues Boy. Red Cross tents and coffee stands were set up in the neighborhood. Three schools in the vicinity were emptied, while more than 2,000 residents were driven from their homes and cared for in police stations and public buildings.

Cheers went up as Captain George Rush went up a fire escape, smashed a tenement house window and brought down a small boy. Meanwhile children were being removed from schools and institutions in the vicinity.

Five hundred families had been made homeless by 1 p. m. and costs were set up for refugees in the Fourth Regiment Armory. Flames licked their way to the dwelling of Mrs. Mary Connalin. She had seven children in the house. The body of one of her children, who died Wednesday, lay in a casket in the parlor.

Nearly 200 children wandered in the streets near the fire zone, many of them crying for parents from whom they had become separated.

NEW 'PRAYER DRIVE' PROMISED BY W. C. T. U.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—The remnants of the little band of intrepid women who 50 years ago knelt in prayer in front of saloons in the long fight for prohibition, today promised an equally tenacious fight to prevent break down of the Volstead act. The little group of white-haired women is attending the national convention here of the Women's Christian Temperance union.

Mrs. Ella Dayton Blair, Los Angeles, formerly of Ohio, who as a young girl took part in the "praying-singing" campaign, declared she would inaugurate the same tactics today if necessary to maintain the Volstead law, which she believed was given a sharp blow by the Hill test case in Baltimore.

Massey, teacher in Hopkins county public schools was sustained by the state board of education today. JOKES AND WORK MAKE HIM RICH

Errand Boy Laughs Way to Big Bank Job

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—At 20 John J. Mitchell was hired to run errands for a bank.

At 28 he was elected president of the same bank.

Today, at 71, he still is president. His "baby" is the powerful Illinois Merchants' Trust company. Mitchell has raised it from infancy to one of the most influential financial houses in the country.

"Luck," say some, relieving his success.

"Work," say others.

"A combination of both with plenty of jokes thrown in," says Mitchell.

"To keep young men young. He has a reputation for being one of the 'funniest' men in the realm of high finance.

There always is a laugh up his sleeve. Jokes have kept him fit and active.

Mitchell doesn't expect to retire until 90.

"Jokes have monkey glands skinned to death," he says.

"To keep young men young. Put business out of your life when you start for home.

"Take a look at the woods and growing things once in a while. Always have a grin ready.

"Naturally a man has to work. But all work and no jokes is a pretty dull way of going at things."

EX-CITY ATTORNEY'S RESIDENCE LOOTED

PORT WORTH, Nov. 14.—After some days of comparative inactivity, burglars resumed their nefarious operations here Tuesday night, when they robbed a residence and a store of cash and goods aggregating several hundred dollars. Neither crime had been solved by police last night.

The home of Raymond Buck, former city attorney, at 2901 Park place, was entered by use of a power key, looted of a safe for valued at $250, and two dresses, a traveling bag and other articles.

SENATOR SHEPARD DIDN'T SPEND CENT

AUSTIN, Nov. 14.—Not a dollar was spent by United States Senator Morris Shepard in the general election campaign to defeat his republican opponent T. M. Kennerly, of Houston, according to statement filed with the secretary of state. Kennerly also did not have any campaign expenses.

In the democratic primary to secure his nomination, Shepard spent $3,724.

D. S. Davenport, San Antonio, democratic nominee for congress who was defeated by Congressman Harry Wurzbach, spent $290.

YOUNG FATHER JAILED FOR SPANKING BABY

CLEVELAND, Nov. 14.—Spanking a 9-month-old baby is nothing less than assault and battery, Police Judge Samuel Silbert ruled in sentencing John O'Boyle, aged 22, to the workhouse for sixty days.

O'Boyle was arrested on complaint of his wife, who said that while she prepared breakfast her husband was delegated to care for her 9-month-old daughter. While she was absent from the room O'Boyle spanked the baby, she told the court.

MARKETS

WALL STREET JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Aside from a slight shrinkage in volume, today's dealings varied little from other sessions since the current wave of bullish enthusiasm swept over the market following the election. Constructive operations were pushed in a vigorous manner and new highs on the movement were reached in many sections of the list.

Adhering to the characteristic which has invariably marked other great bull swings of the past, the market maintained its tendency to develop pronounced strength in freer directions, whenever profit taking threatened to check the main upward movement.

FALL RUSH IS ON IN HOLLYWOOD MOVIES

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 14.—The fall crops are being harvested throughout rural America. The fall rush of sleek-haired, would-be husbandmen and hobbled-tressed farmerettes, hopping for rich pickings in Hollywood, is in full swing. All of them are praying for a plentiful yield of fame and funds. Most of them are doomed to painful disillusionment.

Throughout the year there is a steady stream of aspirants to cinema fortune pouring into Hollywood, but in the spring and again in the fall is this flow the strongest.

True, cameras are clicking merrily in most of the studios with production programs showing little sign of the usual slack season in the closing months of the year. But the host of those who would gain renown before the glittering area is constantly increasing.

Former A. and M. students wanting reservations on the car, Blankfield said, can make them now by calling him at phone 409.

PROPER EATING ROAD TO HEALTH

Dr. Robert H. Rose of New York, "Long ago, when little food was to be had in China and most of the population was half starved," he explains, "they visualized as their subconscious ideal a round-faced man with a huge stomach, distended from food and good living."

"Today we have more food than want or need, most of us, and we have a tendency to take on flesh, so the ideal is a slender figure, possible to many of us only by abstemious action at the lunch counter."

"I believe the next generation will be much more slender, more beautiful and indefinitely more healthy than one, because of this ideal."

Dr. Rose has just published a book, "At Your Way to Health," in which he makes it appear that we are the heirs of our own faces and the plains of our bowels.

Fat Dangerous

In gradually changing the physical architecture from the straight to the curved, Dr. Rose sees not only less beautiful structure but an increased danger from high blood pressure, lung trouble and many tendencies that clip from 10 to 20 years from life.

His theory is simple. You are just right, or too thin or too fat. If you are just right, you adopt maintenance diet as soon as you feel yourself taking on weight. If you are too heavy, as the majority are, you follow a reducing diet until you have reduced to your proper weight, then continue on a maintenance diet which will keep you just right.

The diet to get thin allows you from 1000 to 1200 calories a day. The maintenance diet, upon which you either lose or gain is around 1800 calories a day. To build up you are allowed to go to 2000 calories a day or beyond.

Consider Vitamins

In order intelligently to build up your menus, the doctor believes you must take vitamins into consideration so that your diet is not too limited. The trouble with most diets to reduce very quickly is that they are limited to two or three foods and the part of the body may be entirely unbalanced as a result.

If you are trying to reduce quickly, live on one food, undoubtedly milk is your best choice, he says, for it is the most nearly perfect food. But a more gradual reduction is more desirable.

Include in each day's fare the three vitamins. Vitamin A is found in eggs, cream, butter, oil, fish and green vegetables such as spinach, lettuce, etc. Vitamin B is present in whole grain products, cereals, carrots, potatoes and many other vegetables. Vitamin C is found in green vegetables and fresh fruits, particularly lemon juice, orange juice, onion, tomato and cabbage juices.

Buying Groceries Is Wife's Greatest Task

Buying the groceries is one of the housewife's greatest tasks. Most women, after years of experience accompanied, of course, by a certain amount of a waste of time, effort and money, learn to buy wisely, but many of the younger women of today who marry, and step from the business or professional world into the position of purchasing agent for the home, without the opportunity of training in buying, find the lesson they learn is often costly.

Helps and suggestions for buying, which are found daily in newspapers or in national women's publications offer to the new and inexperienced house manager many ideas for saving in the way of market lists, menus and carefully prepared recipes.

"We usually find it is not a saving to buy the cheapest products in the market—neither may it be economy to buy the highest priced goods. In most cases the experience of others or a trial will help to decide."

For those who do not have the advantages of friendly advice, we would suggest securing some of the "Marketing" and "Care of Food in the Home" by writing to the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Menus For a Family

Breakfast—Sliced oranges, cereal with thin cream, omelet, hashed brown potatoes, cornmeal muffins, quince honey, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Fish chowder, lettuce sandwiches, tapioca Indian pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—Casserole of lamb, parsnip fritters, curly endive with bacon dressing, whole wheat bread raisin pie, milk, coffee.

Children under school age may have the vegetables from the casserole of lamb, some of the finely minced tender leaves of the endive and some of the raisins from the pie for their dinner. A little of the lamb may be given to them but it is not necessary as their hearty meal was provided at noon time.

Children of four or five years who do not eat heartily should be given a glass of orange juice or an apple with one or two pieces of crisp toast during the morning and again during the afternoon. The fruit acts as a stimulant to the appetite as well as furnishing the very important vitamins.

Very often children of school age need an afternoon snack. Especially if the dinner hour is late. Fruit with a sandwich or a small glass of milk with a sandwich is an ideal sort of "tea" for them.

Fish Chowder

Two pounds cod or haddock, 2 cups potatoes cut in inch cubes, 1 medium sized onion, 2 slices salt pork cut 1/2 inch thick, 2 cups milk, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 cup finely diced carrots.

The fish should be skinned. If bones are not removed, pull from flesh, cover with cold water and simmer twenty minutes. Strain and use in place of plain water to cook the fish. Cut fish in small pieces. Fry fat from salt pork, skim out meat and add onion cut in thin slices. Cook over a slow fire until the onions are a pale straw color. Add fish and 2 cups boiling water or fish stock and simmer fifteen minutes. Add potatoes, carrots and cook twenty minutes or until tender. Season with pepper and salt if necessary. Add milk and bring to the boiling point but do not let boil. Moisten soda crackers in cold milk and put in a soup tureen. Pour over chowder and serve. Add boiling water as necessary during the cooking of the fish and vegetables, keeping enough water to cover them but no more.

Tapioca Indian Pudding

Four tablespoons minute tapioca, 5 cups milk, 2/3 cup molasses, 4 tablespoons sugar, 4 tablespoons cornmeal, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt.

Cover tapioca with milk and let stand ten minutes. Sauté 4 cups of milk and slowly pour over cornmeal, stirring constantly. Cook ten minutes in double boiler. Add molasses, sugar, butter and salt and tapioca. Turn into a well buttered baking dish and pour over remaining cold milk. Bake 1 1/2 hours in a moderate oven. Do not stir the cold milk into the pudding. Serve with cream.

Breakfast—Grapes, cornmeal mush and milk-broiled bacon, potato cakes, toasted bran muffins, apple butter, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Cauliflower loaf, rye bread sandwiches, with cottage cheese and currant jelly filling, celery salad, nutted cream, chocolate cake, milk, tea.

Dinner—Cream of lima bean soup, toasted crackers, scalloped potatoes, stewed tomatoes, date and nut salad, pumpkin pie, milk, coffee, whole wheat rolls.

This luncheon menu is suggested for guests as well as junior members in a family. Every woman likes to "ask somebody in" for luncheon occasionally, but it sometimes seems impossible to serve two meals, one for the children and a "party" one, too. If you want to elaborate this menu, consume could be served first with toasted crackers and radishes and olives served with the sandwiches.

Children under school age will not eat the real loaf for dinner.

Cauliflower Loaf

One medium sized head cauliflower, 1 1/2 cups fine soft bread crumbs, 1 cup thin cream, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 3 eggs.

Let cauliflower stand in cold water, head down, for one hour. Break into flowerettes and cook, head up, in slightly salted boiling water for half an hour. Press through a puree strainer. Combine milk, bread crumbs, salt and pepper and cook, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Slowly beat in the cauliflower; there should be two cups, and when well blended add the yolks of the eggs beaten until thick and lemon colored. Fold in the whites of the eggs beaten until stiff and dry and turn into a mold lined with waxed paper. Butter the paper well before putting in the mixture. Put mold in a larger pan and pour in boiling water to more than two-thirds cover it. Bake in a moderate oven until firm in the center, about 60 minutes. Do not let the water boil during the cooking. Unmold and serve with a rich cream sauce.

Nutted Cream

Two cups whipping cream, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, 3/4 cup of powdered sugar, 1/4 cup cold water, 1/2 cup boiling water, 1 cup chopped nuts, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add boiling water and stir over hot water until gelatin is dissolved. Whip cream until stiff and add sugar, vanilla and half the nuts. Stir in dissolved gelatin and continue stirring with the bowl containing the mixture placed in a pan of ice water, until the mixture begins to thicken. Turn into a mold and let stand on ice or in a very cold place until firm. Two or

Was skeptical of Kellogg's Bran until it gave him back his health

Naturally Mr. Carter—whose letter follows—was skeptical. He had tried practically everything for the relief of constipation. All had failed. But Kellogg's Bran brought him permanent relief, just as it has done for thousands of others. Read his letter:

Gentlemen:

I am 48 years old, and have been for years a great sufferer from constipation. I had tried a clerical position because of rashes of blood to my head, some of which caused me to fall to the ground. I took an outdoor laboring job and tried for the first time, skeptically, I admit, your Bran. The result has been wonderful. I began to be normal after I had been on the Bran about three days. No more cramps, no more Old Dr. Scott's Emulsion, Epson salts by the ton, etc., and infirmities! You have the most wonderful product for constipation I have ever seen or tried. Yours very gratefully, L. T. Carter, 294 Nineteenth St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed, does not irritate the intestines like drugs and pills. It acts exactly as nature acts. Eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic case of constipation, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the exclusive, nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream and in the recipe on every package. Sold by all grocers. Made in Battle Creek.

Admiration

Coffee—The Cup of Joy and Cheerfulness

ADMIATION, a cup of it banishes doubt or distress.

In early Grecian and Roman writings, no mention is made of either the coffee plant or the beverage made from the berries. Pierre Selvi Valle, (Born 1886), however maintains that the nepenitha, which Homer says Helen brought with her out of Egypt, and which she employed as succor from sorrow, was nothing else but coffee mixed with wine.

"She mingled with the wine, the wondrous juice of a plant which banishes sadness and woe from the heart and brings with it forgetfulness of every woe."—Homer.

British Steamer Gets Late Start for London

Loaded out with case oil at the Texas Company terminals, the steamship Lorraine Cross shifted over to the Gulf Refining company terminals early today to take bunker fuel. She is scheduled to sail early Saturday for South America. The berth left at the Texas Company docks by the Lorraine Cross was taken by the British steamship Rioli, which shifted over from the Cotton docks.

Two tankers scheduled to arrive in Port Arthur this afternoon were named as the Harvester, from Norfolk to the Texas Company, and the Beaconlight, from Boston, to load out at the Gulf Refining company terminals here. The Gulf company's tanker Gulftrade arrived in Port Arthur early today from Galveston, and the French tanker Rhone came in to load out at the Magnolia Petroleum company's terminals Magpet-co.

A heavy river fog on the Neches delayed the sailing of the British steamship Ascot from Port Neches for a short time early today. The Ascot was loaded out at Beaumont and Port Neches with a cargo for London, England, agents for the ship in these ports being the John E. Jones company. Other sailings from river terminals today included the Danish steamship Frederiksberg, which went to Beaumont after taking part cargo in Port Arthur, and today sailed for ports in the Windward Islands and north coast of South America.

PROPER EATING ROAD TO HEALTH

Doctor Gives Diets for Thin And Fat

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—If we were become idol worshippers we would do so as the symbol of our devotion to the slender figure, according to Dr. Robert H. Rose of New York. "Long ago, when little food was to be had in China and most of the population was half starved," he explains, "they visualized as their subsistence ideal a round-faced man with a huge stomach, distended from food and good living. Today we have more food than we want or need, most of us, and we have a tendency to take on flesh, so the ideal is a slender figure, possible for many of us only by abstemious diet at the lunch counter. I believe the next generation will have more slender, more beautiful and indefinitely more healthy than is one, because of this ideal." Dr. Rose has just published a book, "Eat Your Way to Health," in which he makes it appear that we are the masters of our own faces and the plains of our jaws.

Fast Dangerous
In gradually changing the physical architecture from the straight to the curved, Dr. Rose sees not only less beautiful structure but an increased danger from high blood pressure, lung trouble and many tendencies that clip from 10 to 20 years from life.

His theory is simple. You are either just right, or too thin or too fat. If you are just right, you adopt a maintenance diet as soon as you feel yourself taking on weight. If you are too heavy, as the majority of us are, you follow a reducing diet until you have reached your proper weight, then continue on a maintenance diet which will keep you just there. The diet to get thin allows you from 100 to 1200 calories a day. The maintenance diet, upon which you either lose or gain is around 1800 a day. To build up you are allowed to go to 3000 calories a day or beyond.

Consider Vitamins
In order intelligently to build up your menus, the doctor believes you must take vitamins into consideration so that your diet is not too limited. The trouble with most diets that reduce very quickly is that they are limited to two or three foods and some part of the body may be entirely unprovided for. If you are trying to reduce quickly and live on one food, undoubtedly milk is your best choice, he says, since it is the most nearly perfect food. But a more gradual reduction is more desirable.

Include in each day's fare the three vitamins. Vitamine A is found in eggs, cream, butter, oil, fish and green leaves such as spinach, lettuce, etc. Vitamine B is present in whole grain products, cereals, carrots, potatoes and many other vegetables. Vitamine C is found in green vegetables and fresh fruits, particularly lemon juice, orange juice, onion, tomato and cabbage juices.

Buying Groceries Is Wife's Greatest Task

Buying the groceries is one of the housewife's greatest tasks. Most women, after years of experience accompanied, of course, by a certain amount of a waste of time, effort and money, learn to buy wisely, but many of the younger women of today who marry, and step from the business or professional world into the position of purchasing agent for a home, without the opportunity of learning in buying, find the lesson they learn is often costly.

Helps and suggestions for buying, which are found daily in newspapers or in national women's publications offer to the new and inexperienced house manager many ideas for saving in the way of market lists, menus and carefully prepared recipes.

We usually find it is not a saving to buy the cheapest products in the market—neither may it be economy to buy the highest priced goods. In most cases the experience of others or a trial will help to decide.

For those who do not have the advantages of friendly advice, we would suggest securing some of the free U. S. government bulletins on "Marketing" and "Care of Food in the Home," by writing to the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Menus For a Family

Breakfast—Sliced oranges, cereal with thin cream, omelet, hashed brown potatoes, cornmeal muffins, quince honey, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Fish chowder, lettuce sandwiches, tapioca Indian pudding, milk, tea.
Dinner—Casserole of lamb, parsnip fritters, curly endive with bacon dressing, whole wheat bread raisin pie, milk, coffee.

Children under school age may have the vegetables from the casserole of lamb, some of the finely minced tender leaves of the endive and some of the raisins from the pie for their dinner. A little of the lamb may be given to them but is not necessary as their hearty meal was provided at noon time.

Children of four or five years who do not eat heartily should be given a glass of orange juice or an apple with one or two pieces of crisp toast during the morning and again during the afternoon. The fruit acts as a stimulant to the appetite as well as furnishing the very important vitamins.

Very often children of school age need an afternoon lunch. Especially if the dinner hour is late. Fruit with a sandwich or a small glass of milk with a sandwich is an ideal sort of "tea" for them.

Fish Chowder

Two pounds cod or haddock, 2 cups potatoes cut in inch cubes, 1 medium sized onion, 2 slices salt pork cut 1-2 inch thick, 2 cups milk, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1-2 cup finely diced carrots. The fish should be skinned. It bones are not removed, pull from flesh, cover with cold water and simmer twenty minutes. Strain and use in place of plain water to cook the fish. Cut fish in small pieces. Fry fat from salt pork, skim out meat and add onion cut in thin slices. Cook over a slow fire until the onions are a pale straw color. Add fish and 2 cups boiling water or fish stock and simmer fifteen minutes. Add potatoes and carrots and cook twenty minutes or until tender. Season with pepper and salt if necessary. Add milk and bring to the boiling point but do not let boil. Moisten soda crackers in cold milk and put in a soup tureen. Pour over chowder and serve. Add boiling water as necessary during the cooking of the fish and vegetables, keeping enough water to cover them but no more.

Tapioca Indian Pudding

Four tablespoons minute tapioca, 5 cups milk, 2-3 cup molasses, 4 tablespoons sugar, 4 tablespoons cornmeal, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt. Cover tapioca with milk and let stand ten minutes. Scald 4 cups of milk and slowly pour over cornmeal, stirring constantly. Cook ten minutes in double boiler. Add molasses, sugar, butter and salt and tapioca. Turn into a well buttered baking dish and pour over remaining cold milk and pour over remaining cold milk. Bake 1-2 hours in a moderate oven. Do not stir the cold milk into the pudding. Serve with cream.

Breakfast—Grapes, cornmeal mush and milk, broiled bacon, potato cakes, toasted bran muffins, apple butter, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Cauliflower loaf, rye bread sandwiches, cold cottage cheese and currant jelly filling, celery salad, nutted cream, chocolate cake, milk, tea.

Dinner—Cream of lima bean soup, toasted crackers, real birds, scalloped potatoes, stewed tomatoes, date and nut salad, pumpkin pie, milk, coffee, whole wheat rolls.

This luncheon menu is suggested for guests as well as junior members in a family. Every woman likes to "ask somebody in" for luncheon occasionally, but it sometimes seems impossible to serve two meals, one for the children and a "party" one, too. If you want to elaborate this menu, consommé could be served first with toasted crackers and radishes and olives served with the sandwiches.

Children under school age will not eat the real birds for dinner.

Cauliflower Loaf

One medium sized head cauliflower, 1-2 cups fine soft bread crumbs, 1 cup thin cream, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 3 eggs. Let cauliflower stand in cold water, head down, for one hour. Break into flowerettes and cook, head up, in slightly salted boiling water for half an hour. Press through a puree strainer. Combine milk, bread crumbs, salt and pepper and cook, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Slowly beat in the cauliflower; there should be two cups, and when well blended add the yolks of the eggs beaten until thick and lemon colored. Fold in the whites of the eggs beaten until stiff and dry and turn into a mold lined with waxed paper. Butter the paper well before putting in the mixture. Put mold in a larger pan and pour in boiling water to more than two-thirds cover it. Bake in a moderate oven until firm in the center, about 60 minutes. Do not let the water boil during the cooking. Unmold and serve with a rich cream sauce.

Nutted Cream

Two cups whipping cream, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, 3-4 cup of powdered sugar, 1-4 cup cold water, 1-2 cup boiling water, 1 cup chopped nuts, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Soften gelatin in cold water. Add boiling water and stir over hot water until gelatin is dissolved. Whip cream until stiff and add sugar, vanilla and half the nuts. Stir in dissolved gelatin and continue stirring with the bowl containing the mixture placed in a pan of ice water, until the mixture begins to thicken. Turn into a mold and let stand on ice or in a very cold place until firm. Two or three hours will be necessary for the mixture to stiffen.

(Copyright 1924, NEA Service, Inc.)

Breakfast—Orange juice, cereal, thin cream, broiled lamb cutlets, creamed potatoes, bran muffins, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Baked macaroni with cheese, tomato jelly salad, toasted muffins, prune pudding, milk, tea.
Dinner—Sal codfish stew, baked potatoes, buttered beets, steamed bread pudding, milk, coffee.

The prune pudding suggested for the luncheon dessert is made with cornstarch and served with whipped cream.

Broiled Lamb Cutlets

Two cups finely chopped lean lamb cut from fore-quarter, 1-2 cup stale bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon salt, few grains nutmeg, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, few drops onion juice, milk to make moist.

Combine meat and bread crumbs. Mix thoroughly and add seasoning. Add milk to make moist and form into small flat cakes. Broil in a slightly oiled iron frying pan.

Two cups canned tomatoes, 1-2 onion, 2 coarse blades celery, 12 whole cloves, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1 inch stick cinnamon, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup boiling water, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, 4 tablespoons cold water. Put tomatoes, onion, celery, spices, sugar, salt and water into a saucepan and simmer 20 minutes. Soften gelatin in cold water and stir into boiling tomato mixture. Stir until gelatin is dissolved. Strain into individual molds. Chill and serve on a bed of lettuce with a boiled dressing.

Gingerbread Pudding

Six apples, 3-4 cup sugar, 1-4 cup boiling water, gingerbread batter. Pare apples, cut in quarters and remove cores. Cut quarters into thin slices. Make a sirup of the water and sugar and cook apples until tender but not broken. Lift apple from sirup into a well-buttered baking dish. Pour over the following gingerbread batter:

Gingerbread

One-half cup molasses, 4 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons lard, 1-4 cups flour, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon soda, 1-2 cup boiling water, 1 egg, 1-2 cup finely chop-

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Nov. 14.—Four leading citizens of Rock Island are under arrest in connection with the murder of John Looney, son of the former owner of the Rock Island News, in a vice war. They will be given a hearing Monday. John Potter, publisher of the Rock Island Argus, John Collins, his managing editor, and Thomas Haege, department store proprietor and former chairman of the republican county committee, were charged with conspiracy in connection with murder in connection with the killing.

Coffee—The Cup of Joy and Cheerfulness

ADMIATION, a cup of it banishes doubt or distress.

In early Grecian and Roman writings, no mention is made of either the coffee plant or the beverage made from the berries. Pierre Selli Valle, (Born 1586), however maintains that the nepertha, which Homer says Helen brought with her out of Egypt, and which she employed as succor from sorrow, was nothing else but coffee mixed with wine.

"She mingled with the wine, the wondrous juice of a plant which banishes sadness and wrath from the heart and brings with it forgetfulness of every woe."—Homer.

British Steamer Gets Late Start for London

Loaded out with case oil at the Texas Company terminals, the steamship Lorraine Cross shifted over to the Gulf Refining company terminals early today to take bunker fuel. She is scheduled to sail early Saturday for South America. The berth left at the Texas Company docks by the Lorraine Cross was taken by the British steamship Riol, which shifted over from the Cotton docks. Two tankers scheduled to arrive in Port Arthur this afternoon were named as the Harvester, from Norfolk to the Texas Company, and the Beaconlight, from Boston, to load out at the Gulf Refining company terminals here. The Gulf company's tanker Gulftrade arrived in Port Arthur early today from Galveston, and the French tanker Rhone came in to load out at the Magnolia Petroleum company's terminals Magpetco.

A heavy river fog on the Neches delayed the sailing of the British steamship Ascot from Port Neches for a short time early today. The Ascot was loaded out at Beaumont and Port Neches with a cargo for London, England, agents for the ship in these ports being the John E. Jones company. Other sailings from river terminals today included the Danish steamship Frederiksborg, which went to Beaumont after taking part cargo in Port Arthur, and today sailed for ports in the Windward Islands and north coast of South America.

BOOSTER BAND TO ENROLL 50

Second Class for Players Is Organized

Lining up between 10 and 15 new players, a second class of future players for the Port Arthur Boosters band is being organized to start instruction work under Max Montgomery, director and instructor of the band, according to an announcement from Bob Saffley, secretary of the organization, today.
First rehearsal of the second class eating in Port Arthur, according to of Booster bandmen is scheduled for Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the band hall, in the Weller building on Fifth street, Saffley said. Under Montgomery's direction plans have been made for bringing the Booster band up to 50 players. Formerly director of the Fort Worth Police band, and director of the Dodsons Show band, Montgomery comes to Port Arthur highly recommended, Saffley said.

One of the methods decided upon for building up the Boosters band is to secure work in Port Arthur for a number of musicians in other cities who are in communication with Montgomery and are desirous of the secretary. Through the organization of a second group of players for instruction, the band also is planning for future growth, it is pointed out.

NO. 22—MRS. GOOSE AND THE CROW TAKE A TRIP

The peddler was saying, "Well, well, well!"

Mother Goose and the white crow stopped on top of a tower of the castle of the King of Yum Yum Land and peeped over the edge to see what was going on.

There in the yard leaning up against a tree was Daddy Gander's magic dust pan, but the old gentleman was nowhere to be seen.

"The very idea," cried Mrs. Goose. "He could have brought the cook home and then left right away. He didn't need to go inside and make a visit. Nancy and Nick will think he's never coming back."

Sounds of "yum, yum" were coming out of all the windows of the castle, and indeed out of all the houses in Yum Yum Land, because it was dinner time.

"I know what's happened," said the crow. "The king has invited old Daddy Gander to stay to dinner. He'll be along soon if we give him time to finish. But you wait here and I'll fly down and look through the dining-room window."

Pretty soon he came back.

"Yes, that's it," he said. "The king is at one end of the table and Daddy Gander is at the other end. They're eating great stacks of bread and butter. I heard the king say that never, never had he eaten such bread in his life."

"Oh, that's the bread that Mrs. John set to raise. The bread the cook found and baked into loaves and took home. If it wasn't for that bread, Daddy Gander wouldn't be here."

"He'll soon be through eating," said the crow, "and then we can all start back to the Twins on the magic dust plan. It will only be a matter of a few minutes to get Jack's house on it, too, and then back to Pippin Hill in a jiffy."

"Look! Look!" whispered Mrs. Goose suddenly, pointing down to the yard of the palace where the magic dust pan was leaning against the tree. "It's a peddler. He's picking it up!"

The peddler was saying, "Well, well, well! If I didn't know that Daddy Gander had floated miles away with the floating powders I gave him, and that—No, no! This can't be the magic dust pan! But it's a good one, so I'll put it in my pack and sell it for sixpence."

(I'll just say right here that the peddler had started a lemonade stand, but once a peddler always a peddler and he had taken to the road again.)

"Give me my broom. Quick," cried Mrs. Goose.

And without another word she jumped on and rode right at the peddler and grabbed it out of his hand.

"Brooms and dust-pans go together," she called as her faithful steed carried her to the tower once more.

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

By Uncle RAY

INVENTION OF THE TELESCOPE

A little more than 300 years ago, there lived a man named Hans Lipperhey. He was a Dutchman, and his trade was making eye-glasses.

As the story goes, this Dutchman had a youth in his shop who was learning the trade. One day, the youth happened to look through two lenses. Instead of being in a frame, the lenses were held in the lad's hands, a foot or so apart. He looked through them both with one eye.

"Oh, see!" he cried. "These two lenses make things look bigger. And they're upside down, too!"

Hans took a look himself. Sure enough, the glass pieces did what the youth said.

"Well, well!" thought the master. "I can make a dandy toy."

So he fitted the two glasses in a tube and looked through them. They made it possible for him to see the weather-cock on a church steeple; only it was upside down!

This toy spy-glass or "telescope" was placed in the shop window. One day, a customer picked it up and looked through it. He was surprised by what he could see. He bought it and gave it to a prince.

Fortune now did something very fine. Someone wrote a letter to Venice telling about the invention. Galileo heard the news. He was now teaching at the University of Padua, near Venice. He decided to make a spy-glass for himself. First, he tried to find what kinds of lenses should be put together to make things look bigger. At last, he found the ones he wanted. Taking an organ pipe about two feet long, he placed a lens at either end. He looked through, and presto! Everything seemed to come closer—right side up.

Galileo was not satisfied with this spy-glass. It made things look bigger, but not big enough. Soon he made a new one, which showed things much farther away. Ships coming to port could be seen two hours sooner than with just the eyes.

Then Galileo had the greatest idea of all: He would use the spy-glass to look at the moon, the planets and the stars!

(Copyright, the John F. Dill Co., Chicago.)

Two spy-glasses or telescopes said to have been made by Galileo. At first they were held in the hands. Then stands were made to go with them.

ONE AUTO FOR TANK OR WHAT HAVE YOU

DALLAS, Nov. 14.—Joe, Jim and Terrill Clark are just about in the notion of trading a jointly owned fiver for a tank.

While sleeping in the machine to prevent thieves from stealing, so they told officers, someone gave them a cut-glass shower by shooting through the windshield of their automobile. Officers were unable to throw any light on the incident.

STATE BANS COMMISSIONS

Tax Collector Won't Get Them Now

AUSTIN, Nov. 14.—In an opinion to the state comptroller, the attorney general's department held that the tax collector of New Willacy county is not entitled to commissions on any part of the taxes collected by the tax collectors of Cameron, Hidalgo and Old Willacy or Kenedy counties, out of which New Willacy county was created, whether the taxes were remitted to him or directly to the state treasurer.

This holding may appear to impose a burden on the tax collector of Willacy county, the opinion says, but in the language of the supreme court in the case of Hallman vs. Campbell, it "is one of the burdens devolving upon the officer as an incident to his office, the relief for which, if any, must be had through the legislative and not the judicial department."

FOCUS EFFORTS

of the refineries here. There was a sprinkling of business men and several who had been invited to address the body.

A. L. Burge, as an invited guest, was asked to tell what he personally knew of the efficiency of the plan. Burge was introduced as one who had been in two cities where the city manager plan was inaugurated during his residency, and as one familiar with the results of the system.

Burge read excerpts from 41 letters from city officials where the plan had been inaugurated. These quotations were from city managers, bankers, labor leaders, newspapermen and persons from all walks speaking frankly on the proposition. He said cities cited as examples by Burge were those ranging in population from 15,000 to a half million.

Wistner Explains Election

Burge declared that of some 300 cities in the United States to have discarded the mayor and city commission form of government for the city manager form there was not a single instance of one ever going back to the old plan.

"Port Arthur is a 28 million dollar corporation. For this reason I, speaking as a citizen, and for no organization. I am convinced we should get away from the political form of running our city into the business form which cities all over the country are adopting," Burge said.

"For other big corporations there is an expert hired who knows his business and directs operations. So should it be with a city."

"I hope if you decide to change your charter or get a new one you make no compromise with the city manager plan. Have it all or none. Get the city entirely out of politics or don't fool with it. The two don't mix," Burge said.

V. J. Wistner, city attorney, was next called on to explain how the city manager form of government could be legally instituted in Port Arthur. He said there were three ways. These were by the city commission ordering an election, by 10 per cent of the voters petitioning for the election should the commission refuse to order one, or by voting an absolutely new charter, he said.

Wistner also stated there could be only one charter amendment within a two year period.

The last time a vote providing for a full time mayor, chief of police and city attorney on a charter amendment was taken was in November, 1922. The amendment did not become effective, however, until late the following January. That would mean, it was interpreted today, that the earliest a referendum could be held on the question would be next February.

The spirit of the meeting was to lose no time but to set about the task of getting the question to a vote as soon as possible. Leaders said the city manager question should be settled before a new city administration was elected.

It was decided to prepare literature explaining the workings of the manager plan and to mail, within a week, this to every voter and taxpayer. With this literature will be an invitation to attend a mass meeting to discuss the campaign.

Mayor J. P. Logan, asked today what would be his attitude and that of the city commission on the city manager issue, said he had no statement to make at the present time.

"The matter has not been presented yet and until it is, I shall make no statement," the mayor said.

Following is list of those signing as charter members last night with their residence addresses:

L. Fontana, 2530 Ninth street; P. H. LaGrone, 514 De Queen; U. D. Duncan, 2618 Fifth street; E. H. Carney, 2747 Sixth; A. W. Alexander, 926 Stilwell; J. C. Miller,
